5.*	Student choice – extensive-constructed-response question	Giving Out Bonuses

* Question 5 from the Giving Out Bonuses Situation is an example of a student-choice question. For each of the two student-choice components in the Graduation Numeracy Assessment, students choose to answer one of two extensive-constructed-response questions based on situations from the common component (the common component is the group of questions all students answer). You can find a sample response to the student choice question on the Numeracy Assessment page.
